In the wake of a new study reporting that nearly 2 million veterans are now uninsured, Congressman Steve Israel called on President Bush to reverse a 2003 means-testing policy and to sign the House-passed bill providing the largest expansion to veterans health in the VA's 77-year history.